

ENTREPRENEURSHIP AT CORNELL

Zach Shulman, Director

Program Overview:

Entrepreneurship at Cornell is an innovative, university-wide program supported by every school and college at Cornell University and a dedicated core of faculty, staff and alumni. Both undergraduate and graduate students benefit from studying and working within Cornell's world-class programmatic, research and clinical environments to develop the technical, business, and leadership skills that position them for success in their entrepreneurial endeavors. With its broad array of programs and services, Entrepreneurship at Cornell is the gateway to everything entrepreneurial at Cornell University. <http://eship.cornell.edu/>

Governed by the Deans (<http://eship.cornell.edu/governing-board/>) of the 13 Cornell schools and colleges, Entrepreneurship at Cornell is supported by a committed Advisory Council of over 90 members.

Financial support for Cornell entrepreneurship events, eShip Magazine, student competitions and internships, among other key programs, is augmented by our Corporate Sponsors (<http://eship.cornell.edu/corporate-sponsors/>).

Vision: By 2020, with EaC's support, activities and leadership, Cornell will attain a premier global reputation for entrepreneurial excellence.

Mission: Finding and Fostering the Entrepreneurial Spirit in Every Cornell Participant. In Every College. Every Field. Every Stage of Life.

Goal: Cross traditional academic boundaries and combine resources to offer teaching, experiential learning, research and outreach programs that help students and alumni realize their own visions of success.
